

VIR Viafarini-in-residence

VIR Viafarini-in-residence, located in the historic organization's premises, in via Carlo Farini 35 in Milan, is available as a shared studio for artists, curators and professionals of the cultural and creative sector. VIR is a co-working space registered in the register of the municipality of Milan since 2013.

VIR is a place open to dialog between visual arts and other forms of expression and creative incubation, aiming at giving space to the artistic productions of the hosted artists and facilitating skills' exchange and professional growth. At regular intervals the doors of the shared studio, which can always be visited by appointment, are opened to the public in occasion of the Open Studio, for the presentation of the works produced during the stay.

The working place consists of two rooms connected to a wider space, for a total of over 240 square mt, where artists work side by side for variable periods.

If the guests are also looking for accomodation, in addition with the use of the working space, Viafarini can offer accomodation in apartments, available by request (an additional fee will be applied). The rooms are located in the same building, in completely independent two-room flats of 40 square meters, including a kitchen room and a study room with an elevated bed area (look at Hospitality section).

The guests of the studio are selected through open calls, by invitation of curators, as well as through application form submitted directly by artist and curators themselves. VIR reserves the opportunity to invite hosted artists and curators to attend meetings, talks, debates and lectures.

Thanks to exchange agreements with international organizations VIR Viafarini-in-residence launches open calls in order to let Italian artists and curators spend a period of residency abroad. Currently, exchange agreements are arranged with: FUTURA Project (Prague), HIAP (Helsinki), PROGR (Bern), Residency Unlimited (New York City), SOMA (Mexico City).
