

Legenda e istruzioni dei War Drawings:

This is a two-dimensional world of x-man and dot-man. X-men have black tanks, dot-men white tanks. Both sides struggle to dominate the space. The drawing can continue indefinitely.

Each side has its own city (fortress) with thick walls. Each city (fortress) usually has living quarters, place of workshop, offices, factories, supplies and jails.

Areas external to the cities are composed of lakes, rivers, or oceans. Individual x- or dot-men and the tanks need bridges and/or boatsto cross these bodies of water. Super-tanks can cross the water and their firing range exceeds standard tanks.

Elements are moved by drawing, erasing, and re-drawing elsewhere. Tanks can also move in a line throughout the maze of water and fortifications.

Defenders usually fire first, unless they are attacked from behind or ambushed. Each side has explosives at their disposal, useful for getting through fortified walls or in ambush.

Ultimately, each side can also build a super-cannon, capable of penetrating the fortified walls and with an unlimited firing range. Immobilità is their disadvantage: super-cannons can easily become sitting ducks.